THE LOCATION

North Ayrshire is one of 32 council areas in Scotland. The council area borders Inverclyde to the north, Renfrewshire and East Renfrewshire to the northeast, and East Ayrshire and South Ayrshire to the east and south respectively.

It is a popular area with many local amenities and excellent schools at both primary and secondary level and is home to the ruined castle remains on the Castle Hill which allows beautiful views across the bay to Arran and is an ideal picnic spot. There are two beautiful beaches ideal for those who like walking and cycling, and the up and coming harbour area has many new developments including a new supermarket and restaurant. Access to the Isle of Arran is given via ferry links from the harbour side on a daily basis, with frequent crossings and excellent road links and frequent rail links to Ayr, Glasgow and Largs.

The area is twenty minutes from Royal Troon, Old Prestwick, and Dundonald Links Golf Courses, all home of The Open golf tournament. Also, within close proximity is Prestwick International Airport. In under an hour, you can reach the Trump Turnberry Golf Course, also home to The Open, as well as Glasgow International Airport.
